Shopgirl Steve Martin

Steve Martin is a disaster as Ray lacking the actors chops to show any emotion, even the restrained variety that the non-committal Porter protects himself with. In order to balance these dull lifeless creatures Tucker and Martin turn Jeremy (Jason Schwartzman) into a lovable shaggy dog, cutely clueless and upbeat.

Shopgirl (2005) - IMDb

Steve Martin is surprisingly adept at prose. A master of the comedic genre, Mr. Martin manages without pretentiousness to imbue the story of a slightly imbalanced shopgirl, Mirabelle, a veritable everyday girl with little to do of anything, with a mirth and understanding that undercuts all of his celebrity and stand-up.

Shopgirl by Steve Martin - Goodreads

Shopgirl is a 2005 American romantic comedy-drama film directed by Anand Tucker and starring Steve Martin, Claire Danes, and Jason Schwartzman. The screenplay by Steve Martin is based on his 2000 novella of the same title. The film is about a complex love triangle between a bored salesgirl, a wealthy businessman, and an aimless young man.

The fact is, Steve Martin the actor and comedian and all around goofy guy can write. More: he writes tightly and with confidence. Nor is it a funny novel. That's not to say it isn't humorous: sometimes it is. But Shopgirl isn't ha-ha, sidesplitting funny. Rather, Martin's book is gently peppered with the type of dark humor that permeates real life.

Steve Martin's most achieved work to date may well have the strange effect of making people glad not to be Steve Martin." Sienna Powers of January Magazine said "Shopgirl is the work of a mature, self-possessed writer . . . Martin infuses his story with a dark verve that is his own. The author's tone is at once blasé and gentle and in the ...

shopgirl by Steve Martin - garysvintagebooks.com

"Shopgirl," Martin's elegant, bleak, desolatingly sad first novella, is in every sense his most serious work to date. The shopgirl of the title is Mirabelle, a 28-year-old artist, $39,000 in debt thanks to her M.F.A. from a California college, who works at the glove counter at Neiman's in Beverly Hills.

The Counter Life

Steve Martin's reading made the difference to quote LA Story: "All I could think to myself was wonderful, wonderful, wonderful, wonderful, wonderful, wonderful, more wonderful, and yet again wonderful". Mr. Martin's somewhat deadpan delivery of this beautifully subtle work lets his character's words shine through so clearly.
